AMUSEMENTS.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

DEATH.

Amoy, February 1.

Mr. H. M. Thompson, Clerk of Works to the Imperial Maritime Customs, passed away last evening, after only two days illness. The deceased died of acute asthma.

He had been ailing for many months. Mr Thompson has been in Amoy nearly three years. The "New Customs" House was erected under his supervision, and the examination sheds, now in course of completion, were also in his charge. Much sympathy is felt for the widow and three children so suddenly bereaved.

SARUNGA.

The Customs Revenue Cruiser Ping

Ching, Capt. Wyles, arrived in port on Sunday, also two Japanese men-of-war, and these vessels are still here.

OUR NEW FLAGSHIP.

The armoured cruiser Minotaur, selected for service as flagship of the Communication of the China Station, was passed out of dockyard hands at Chatham on January 1st, and was paid off next day from service in the First Cruiser Squadron.

Capt. G. C. Cayley, late Assistant Director of Naval Mobilisation succeeded Capt. H. H. D. Tobhill in command, and recommended her on the 4th for her new duties. On 25th January, Capt. Cayley became flag-captain to Vice-Admiral Sir A. Winkles, one of the Lords of the Admiralty, who is to succeed Vice-Admiral Sir H. Lambton in the command of the China Station.

The new crew for the Minotaur has been selected from the Portsmouth Depot.

Vice-Admiral Sir A. L. Winkles, hoisted his flag on the Minotaur at the end of January.

The Minotaur is the largest and most powerfully equipped warship ever sent from England to the Far East. She is almost a new ship, having been completed at Devonport, where she was built and equipped at a cost exceeding £1,200,000 less than two years ago. The Minotaur is equipped with four 9.2 in. and ten 7.5 in.

breach-loading guns, and 16 small quickfiring guns, compared with the two 9.2 in., 18 6 in. breach-loading guns, and 16 small quick-firing guns mounted in the armoured cruiser King Alfred, the present flagship.

The Minotaur has a displacement of 14,600 tons, and is fitted with engines of 27,000 h.p., propelling her at a speed of 23 knots an hour. With the exception of the new Dreadnought cruisers of the Indomitable type, the Minotaur is one of the three most powerful cruisers flying the white ensign, her sister ships being the Shannon (flagship of the Second Cruiser Squadron) and the Deliance.

The Admiralty announce the following appointments:—Commander B. V. Brooke, to the Minotaur; Sub-Lieutenant J. N. Tait to the Minotaur; Assistant-Paymaster

J. L. Syson and A. C. Pelham Kent to the Waterwitch.

It is anticipated that Sir Edward Grey will resign, as he intimated in 1906 his objection to the Liberal's taking office unless they possessed an independent majority.

A recent "advertisement" in Punch reads:—"Look from Party Politics two valuable qualities answering the names of 'Truth' and 'Dignity.' Anyone who finds and adopts the same will (we feel sure) be handsomely rewarded."

Lord Rayleigh, who eight years ago entered upon a profit-sharing scheme with the 280 employees of his firm at Tilling, Essex, at Christmas distributed £4,000 under the scheme. Owing to the wet summer the bonus was not so good as last year.

Dr Wilder in the closing week of January had to make four graduating addresses to Chinese students and he told the alumni of St. John's University that the habit was now so ingrained in him that he could not enjoy his meals nor sleep well until he had given somebody some good advice. This constant loquacity had the advantage of familiarizing him with the platform and he was ashamed to say he felt no embarrassment even in the presence of that considerable audience.

The contents of the speech—the question of whether one had anything to say—used to trouble him, but after being on the rhetorical circuit for some time one came to regard that as an unimportant detail.

CHINA AND PARLIAMENTARY

INSTITUTIONS.

FROM time immemorial the mandarinate of China has been jealous of the power of the common people. It is therefore hardly surprising to read that the official classes in Peking view with something approaching alarm the significant rise in influence of the commercial classes, the steady growth in the unification of public opinion throughout the Empire, and the equally steady increase in the pressure which provincial cities can now bring to bear in the capital when any question affecting their interests is on the tapis. We are, therefore, scarcely surprised to learn that the petition of certain provincial delegates that the proposed Parliament of China be convoked before the expiry of the term set by the late Emperor, though respectfully received, has been rejected by the Prince Regent.

His Highness took the ground, perfectly intelligible in China, that the wishes of the dead must be respected, but we learn from the North China Daily News that a vigorous discussion of the proposals took place at the Imperial decrees was issued. Prince Chun, it appears, was candidly opposed to any shortening of the time of preparation as he fears that the grant of a parliament will place the real power in China in the hands of the people. In this opinion he was supported by Prince Pu and H. E.

Li Chai-chu, while Prince Su and Duke

Tsat Tsu refused to have their views canvassed. Two officials only, H. E.

Tsat Tsu and H. E. Yu Laxo, could be said to express approval of the delegates' request, but they were careful to make reservations. H. E. Na Tsao and H. E. Tai Hsueh-tsu, on the other hand, boldly took up their position on the fence and announced their intention to side with the majority.

In the matter of the erection of Parliamentary institutions China would do well to hasten slowly. It is only a few months since the Provincial Assemblies came into active being and their proceedings gave evidence that in many ways the old which now affect this ancient empire. Meanwhile what steps has Peking taken, or the country for the matter of that in the direction pointed out by the decree of 1908? None whatever, so far as most people can see.

The official system is as corrupt as ever, the national finances are in a more chaotic state than they were when the Taiping rebellion closed, while the evils of the currency system are a byword and a reproach to a nation which has the reputation of producing more astute merchants and traders to the square mile than any other land can boast of. True there has been a plentiful stream of reform edicts and decrees issued from Peking since the Prince Regent came to the headship of the State, but the essential reforms which must precede the calling of a National parliament have not been started, and we do not see the man among all the crowd of high dignitaries now thronging the ways at Peking who has the courage, or the ability, or the presence to begin the work. That is China's great misfortune at the present day.

She wants a leader, not a parliament, and she calls apparently in vain.

Meanwhile a spirit of unrest and discontent is abroad throughout the land which unless turned into other channels will some day find violent expression. For though John Chinaman is the most obedient, patient and long-suffering individual that the world has seen, there is a limit even to his quiescent forbearance.

Should he be goaded into rebellion against his present abominable system of government we fear that it will go hard with the present dynasty in Peking. Happily for the Manchus the people whom they so grossly misgovern have no leaders nor organisation, no central idea such as inspired the men who made the Meiji possible in Japan. But who is to say that this condition of things will continue?

The heady wine of the New Learning is already begin to ferment, raising the hopes of the middle classes and pushing men forward into public life whom a generation ago would never have been heard of.

Visit of Japanese Battleship

On Saturday next Hongkong will be ship squadron of the Japanese Navy, now the arduous task during the Russo-Japanese war of keeping watch and ward over the powerful and fleet Russian squadron which had its base at Vladivostok. Vice-

Admiral Baron Kamimura brings with him

THE HASTINGS CASE

A Second Defendant.

The case in which Lam Fook Chai is being charged with defrauding Mr. John Hastings of a sum of $34,000 has been made more interesting still by bringing in a second defendant named Chow Kwong

Un, a clerk in the Land Office, who is now charged with complicity in the offence.

When the case was again called to-day,

Mr. E. J. Gedge appeared for Chow Kwong

Un, Mr. Looker for the other defendant, while Mr. F. B. L. Bowley prosecuted.

Mr. Gedge said the second defendant was arrested last Friday and he had had no means of instructing counsel until Monday.

When the case came on the previous day

Mr. Jackson came up and asked for a remand. His Worship refused the application and the speaker now asked for a remand for a week in order that he might look into the depositions.

His Worship—I should not advise you to ask for the depositions at this stage.

Mr. Gedge—Surely I am entitled to know what evidence has been given.

His Worship—The evidence taken at this stage is not evidence against your client.

It is going to be given again and then you can cross-examine.

Mr. Gedge—The evidence will be given!

His Worship—Yes, but you are not to ask for it now. You are to wait until you are entitled to know the evidence which has already been given.

Mr. Gedge—You are going to recall evidence and you say I am not entitled to see the evidence already given?

His Worship—Yes.

Mr. Gedge—With deference I submit I am not here for the benefit of the Crown.

You are here to try the case.

His Worship—If you like to make an application for me to read over the evidence to you I might consider it but I should refuse to give you a copy of the depositions at this stage.

Mr. Gedge—I never heard of such a thing.

His Worship—It is the usual custom.

Mr. Gedge—With deference to your Worship I think not.

His Worship—The prosecution have access to such papers.

Mr. Gedge—Why should the prosecution be more favoured than the defence. Justice has to be done between the parties.

His Worship—Yes. I should refuse your application.

Mr. Gedge—I think it is very unjustified. I have been given against the second defendant was informed last Friday afternoon that the case would be proceeded with on Monday. Consequently he might have instructed any solicitor he liked.

Mr. Gedge—He did not get out of jail until yesterday.

Mr. Bowley—My friend had notice.

Mr. Gedge—The Crown have yet another ten days before the sessions and even then the case might not come on. Why should the Crown be in such a hurry to go to the case? The case would be

WEATHER REPORT.

The following notice is issued from the Hongkong Observatory.
On the 8th at 12.10 p.m.—The barometer has risen slightly over the Yangtze valley, and fallen somewhat particularly over S.W. Japan and the Loochoos.
A depression has developed over Eastern Sea. It will probably move Eastwards.
The depression noted yesterday as lying over Manchuria appears to be passing to the North of Japan.
Pressure is highest over China to the North of the Yangtze valley.
The monsoon will probably freshen again in the Formosa Channel and the S. part of the China Sea by to-morrow.
Hongkong rainfall for the 24 hours ending at 10 a.m. to-day, 0.00 inches.
Forecast for the 24 hours ending at noon to-morrow—1.—Hongkong and Neighbourhood: N. winds, freshening; fine.
2.—Formosa Channel: N. and N.E. winds, freshening.
3.—South coast of China between Hongkong and Loochoos: Same as No. 2.
4.—South coast of China between Hongkong and Hainan: Same as No. 1.
